Chapter as Story Appears Each Sunday.

Next Sunday's Star will contain th opening chapters of Harold MacGrath's newest and greatest story, "The Adventures of Kathlyn." All this week the first The Star's issue of January 4, is being illustrated by motion pictures in the "movie" theaters of the city. This is the first time in Washington that this combination of a thrilling serial, the work of "The Man On the Box." with motion pictures as illustrations, has ever been of-

When, a year or so ago, a well known magazine co-operated with the "movies" in the presentation to the public of a serial, the project was hailed from one end of the country to the other as something absolutely new. The simultaneous serial publication and presentation in motion pictures of MacGrath's great story is as far in advance of the first co-oper ative effort as that effort was ahead of any previous attempt along lines similar first motion picture theater in Washington to present "The Adventures of Kathlyn" is the Pickwick, 911 Pennsylvania avenue, where the General Film Company's production of the first part of the story was shown today. The pictures, where eleven sleepers will be added to which will be repeated tonight at the same place, iliustrate the installments of the story which will appear in The Sunday Star January 4 and January 11. Two weeks from today pictures illustrating the installments for the following two Sundays will be shown in Washington, and the presentation of the "movies" will continue at two-week intervals until the publication of the story itself in The Sunday Star.

The story deals with the adventures o Kathlyn Hare, daughter of Col. Hare, a army officer living in California. Col. The publication of an open letter from Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the sociation, counseling "passive protest" by suffragists to the new income tax law as applied to women, has led to intimation at the Treasury Department that any atpromptly punished.

Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, former dean of the Washington College of Law, said today that she did not approve of any attempts on the part of women to evade the income tax law. She declared that women get protection from the government should help support it by paying taxes. In Dr. Shaw's letter this statement is "The enactment of an income-tax law has caused assessors to be more insistent in their demand that an accurate statement of all personal as well as real properties shall be listed and returned within a specified time, in order that no property may escape the government tax collectors.
